

Attorney Aidan R. Welsh is a Partner at the Greenwich Connecticut law firm of Schoonmaker, George, Blomberg, Bryniczka & Welsh. She became a partner in 2015 and a named partner in 2020. Attorney Welsh is a Fellow in the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers and the Vice Chair of the Connecticut Bar Association Family Law Section. She handles all aspects of complex family law matters including alimony and child support issues, division of assets, child custody disputes, cases involving substance abuse and mental health issues, negotiating and drafting premarital agreements, litigation, and mediation.

Attorney Welsh frequently speaks on issues related to Family Law and has authored several publications in this field. Attorney Welsh most recently presented at the Connecticut Bar Association Annual Legal Conference on topics related to cryptocurrency and litigation in the time of COVID. Attorney Welsh also co-wrote an article for CT Lawyer Magazine about hedge funds in the context of matrimonial actions. She was the Co-Editor for the Connecticut Family Law Forms book published by the Connecticut Law Tribune. She also authored the article "Initial Client Interview" in the MCLE publication on Connecticut Family Law. Attorney Welsh serves as a Special Master in the Stamford/Norwalk judicial district, assisting other attorneys and parties in resolving family cases.